

January 10, 2019 – The Talking Classroom: Developing Oral Language Skills

Many students in our schools today have low oral language skills. These students will often struggle to learn to read and then when they learn they may have difficulty comprehending what they have read. This class will focus on developing and improving oral language skills as a means of enhancing literacy achievement. The content will recognize the strong connections between language and literacy and understand how oral language and vocabulary skills influence literacy acquisition and comprehension. Throughout the workshop you will obtain engaging, meaningful and dynamic interactions that emphasize listening to good models of language through authentic conversations, vocabulary connections, and sentence elaboration.

8:30-4:00 p.m., please bring a lunch

CBOCES training room – 2020 Clubhouse Drive, Greeley, CO